11th Evidence-Based Practice on the Frontline:
Building a Culture of Quality, Safety and Nursing Professionalism

April 12, 2018
Peachtree Banquet Center • Columbia, MO

Although this event targets front line nurses who actually provide the care, regardless of setting, APRNs, managers and educators also provide positive feedback from participation.

Purpose
Explore how front line nurses can discover and use the latest evidence to improve nursing care and patient outcomes. The focus is not on research, but rather on how staff nurses can carry out EBP projects as well as access and use the latest evidence to guide their everyday practice.

Relevant content for both the novice and advanced nurse with respect to EBP competencies is included. Specific skills building sessions on how to carry out an EBP project as well as exemplar projects from nurses will be offered.

Keynote Speaker
Using Implementation Science to Further Evidence-Based Practice in Quality, Staffing and Safety
Patricia Quigley, PhD, MPH, ARNP, CRRN, FAAN, FAANP
Dr. Patricia Quigley is both a Clinical Nurse Specialist and a Nurse Practitioner in Rehabilitation. For over 40 years she has practiced in the field of rehabilitation nursing, 32.5 years with the Veterans Administration. Currently she is the managing member of Patricia Quigley, Nurse Consultant, LLC. She serves as a patient safety expert for fall and injury reduction to multiple leading quality organizations. For over 20 years, she led an interdisciplinary clinical team in the development of evidence-based assessment tools and clinical guidelines related to assessing veterans’ risk for falls and fall-related injuries across multiple medical centers.
